

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention relates to a method and apparatus for distributing a chemical composition for hunting animals. The chemical composition is distributed in the form of a foam string. The chemical composition can be used to produce 5 scents which attract animals or which mask human scents.